Kunsthalle Bratislava is very happy to announce its new exhibition, entitled Mud Keeper's Promise, curated by Tjaša Pogačar.

This exhibition is part of a two-part exhibition project, entitled Under This Strange Sun. The first episode of the project was presented between 24.02-10.04.2023, and consisted of a solo exhibition of the Czech sculptor Anna Hulačová, entitled Edible, Beautiful, Untamed, curated by Tjaša Pogačar. The second episode presents a vision of a landscape, a premonition of nature haunted by toxic spirits of our industrial past. The international group exhibition, which is inspired by feminist, new weird and eco-fictions, brings together in one connected environment the works of five artists of a younger generation from Slovakia, Slovenia, Czech Republic and Mexico. Their works tell stories about loss, fragility, mutation, adaptation and growth, calling for a new sensitivity better suited to a coming age of post-anthropogenic wilderness.

The exhibition will be accompanied by the following public program:

- 13.5. 2023, 16h: Guided tour with curator Tjaša Pogačar
  - 13.5. 2023, 17-20h: Tijana Radenković's workshop, entitled "In Vain: Self-Archiving as Landscaping"
  - 1.5- 28.5 2023: Workshop for children and youth, entitled 'A New Landscape Awaits Here' led by our trainee Sofie Gombert.
